MOODBOARD

Conclusion :

- To round off our week, after having had some unique experiences, we realised that the city of Antwerp was full of surprises.
- With its beautiful, high-quality architecture and its many museums, we quickly realised that art is part of the city's DNA.
- So we've come to the conclusion that lovers of art, gastronomy and life's little pleasures will all be well catered for.
- Our favourite part is a more hidden aspect of the city. Street art is present in the city and is a great asset for it. We see this popular art form, accessible to all, as the future of tourism for young adults.
